

7 Great California Getaways Perfect For The End Of Summer

By Abby Tegnalia

The weather's just right for one last trip to the Golden State, so we've curated the top seven California weekend getaways to ease you into fall, from beach to wine country, and so much more.

You've still got time to head west for a last-minute trip to enjoy the Golden State's perfect late-summer weather, so start packing your bags now. Can't decide where to go? I've put together itineraries for my seven favorite California weekend getaways, from wine country to the southern coast. Take your pick -- and thank me later.

Destination: Napa

Westin Verasa, Napa.

Where to stay: Westin Verasa Napa Hotel

Hotel highlights: Nothing says relaxation like a trip to northern California wine country. Kick back at the conveniently situated Westin Verasa featuring day spa services, heated saltwater pool (the 40-person hot tub is a godsend after a day of wine-tasting) and award-winning French hot spot La Toque. Shopping at Oxbow Market, attractions, Downtown Napa, and dozens of chic tasting rooms and wineries are just a short walk or drive away.
