

The Napa Valley Guide

As total winos, we're always taking notes on the best spots in Napa (cue Escapes for Foodies and Winos). The region's old greats, like The French Laundry, Opus One, and Auberge du Soleil, will always rank high in our hearts for continuing to set crazy-high standards for food, wine, and luxury. That said, we've also discovered some pretty awesome off-the-beaten path wineries and restaurants in Calistoga and Napa's less-touristy neighbor, Sonoma Valley, that are worth checking out too.

Chef Ken Frank's formal bistro in the Westin Verasa Hotel is the embodiment of the traditional, old-school Napa dining experience. In addition to the nine-course tasting menu, we recommend springing for the wine pairing here—it's totally worth it and a great opportunity to see how the region's best wines hold up in a dining setting.
